

The Institute for Cultural Diplomacy (ICD) is delighted to announce the launch of a new program. Europe meets Russia: A Forum for Young Leaders, will take place in Berlin from April 28th - May 2nd, 2009. By taking part in Europe meets Russia, young leaders will gain insight into cultural diplomacy, and learn from influential figures. Students and young professionals will develop contacts on social and professional levels through the participation of interesting lectures, challenging workshops, and discussions, that cover the state of the European-Russian relationship, and how it influences economic, political and societal relations today.

The ICD is now accepting applications for participants with an active interest in the issue.

Please see the following link for further information, including the application form:

The Institute for Cultural Diplomacy is an international, not-for-profit, non-governmental organization concerned with the promotion of intercultural understanding. Our activity includes conducting research into cultural diplomacy and the organization of leadership initiatives. ICD Programs have been developed to facilitate intercultural exchange at the grass roots, civil society and political levels. Participants are encouraged to develop their own leadership initiatives, which are supported through an online forum and personal consultation.
